- During the March 15th Sustainability Commission meeting, Chair Clark asked staff to provide statistics on compliance rates for the Food Ware Ordinance which began implementation on January 1, 2022. Of the 388 businesses which provide food service, 15% are currently in complete compliance, 31% are in partial compliance, 28% are not in compliance and 26% are being removed from the list as food service is not part of their business. An example of the latter is hotels which do not provide any type of food service.
 - McDonald's corporate office has notified staff that they are not prepared to provide reusables.
 - Per the City's Food Ware Ordinance, fiber based compostables are required for all disposable items beginning January 1, 2023. The processing facilities in Coachella Valley do not accept compostable materials and these items will be routed for landfill disposal.
 - The two consultants working on the Food Ware Ordinance are suggesting enforcement for businesses which are not in compliance. This will be discussed at the standing Subcommittee on Waste Reduction monthly meeting.
